

96TH ANNUAL HONORS CONVOCATION

MARCH 24, 2019

2:00 P.M.

HILL AUDITORIUM

This year marks the 96th Honors Convocation held at the University of Michigan since the first was instituted on May 13, 1924, by President Marion LeRoy Burton. On these occasions, the University publicly recognizes and commends the undergraduate students in its schools and colleges who have earned distinguished academic records or have excelled as leaders in the community. It is with great pride that the University honors those students who have most clearly and effectively demonstrated academic excellence, dynamic leadership, and inspirational volunteerism. The Honors Convocation ranks with the Commencement Exercises as among the most important ceremonies of the University year.

The names of the students who are honored for outstanding achievement this year appear in this program. They include all students who have earned University Honors in both Winter 2018 and Fall 2018, plus all seniors who have earned University Honors in either Winter 2018 or Fall 2018. The William J. Branstrom Freshman Prize recipients are listed, as well — recognizing first year undergraduate students whose academic achievement during their first semester on campus place them in the upper five percent of their school or college class. James B. Angell Scholars — students who receive all “A” grades over consecutive terms — are given a special place in the program. In addition, the student speaker is recognized individually for exemplary contributions to the University community.

To all honored students, and to their parents, the University extends its hearty congratulations.

Martin A. Philbert • Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

Honored Students
Honored Faculty
Faculty Colleagues and Friends of the University

It is a pleasure to welcome you to the 96th University of Michigan Honors Convocation. On behalf of the academic leaders on the Ann Arbor, Dearborn, and Flint campuses, I thank you for joining us today.

The Honors Convocation is an important University tradition that recognizes and celebrates the outstanding academic achievements of undergraduate students from all three of our campuses.

Today we proudly recognize students whose deep learning and dedication to inquiry have led them to outstanding academic accomplishment. These students have a passion for learning: a willingness to challenge themselves, to question orthodoxy, and to seek new solutions to challenging problems. They exemplify what we mean by “the leaders and best”.

The University’s mission statement includes our commitment to “developing leaders who will challenge the present and enrich the future.” The students we are honoring give life to that commitment through their purposeful engagement with the world.

Today we also honor a group of distinguished faculty members who have joined us for this ceremony. Recently recognized by the University for their outstanding teaching and scholarship, they represent the many individuals in our community who inspire, challenge, and support our students.

As we congratulate our students, we also recognize, with deep appreciation, the parents, family members, and friends who have nurtured and supported these remarkable students. The University of Michigan shares the pride you feel in their accomplishments. With you, we look forward to the contributions they will make to the future.

Congratulations and Welcome!

Martin A. Philbert
Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

ORDER OF EXERCISES

“Civility, Dissent, and Compromise in a Divided World”

At the University of Michigan, we value opportunities to learn from those with points of view different from our own. This requires that we reflect upon the possibilities and limits of civility, dissent, and free speech. When and how do these values overlap? When and how are they at odds? Most importantly, how do we navigate them so as to contribute to our world when it seems most divided?

HONORS CONVOCATION SPEAKERS

Allison Kathryn Berry

Senior, Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy

Allison Berry, a senior from Grand Blanc, Michigan, is majoring in public policy in the Gerald R. Ford School of Public Policy and minoring in gender, race, and nation in the Women's Studies Department in the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts.

Passionate about public policy and service, Allison volunteers at U-M's Sexual Assault Prevention and Awareness Center and directs the Panhellenic Peer Educators for Sexual Violence Education and Empowerment program. She is a past president of the Xi chapter of Delta Gamma sorority, served in LSA Student Government, and interned with the nonpartisan Partnership for Public Service in Washington, D.C. She established the inaugural chapter and served as co-president of WeListen, a grassroots campus organization that seeks to bridge America's political divide by facilitating small-group conversations between students with divergent political viewpoints on such topics as free speech, gun legislation, and immigration. As a member of LSA's Gifts of Kindness Advisory Board, she has raised money to help students attend conferences, study abroad, and cover other expenses associated with a robust liberal arts education. She works part time in the University's Office of the Vice President and General Counsel and plans to attend law school.

Jason P. De León

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Associate Professor, Director of Undergraduate Studies, Anthropology
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor De León, a University of Michigan faculty member since 2010, was named a Thurnau Professor in 2018 in recognition of his outstanding teaching and success in creating vibrant, collaborative learning communities where students are energized by engaging in their own research and that of fellow students. He also received LSA's Class of 1923 Memorial Teaching Award and Individual Award for Outstanding Contributions to Undergraduate Education in Race & Ethnicity Instruction. In 2017, Professor De León was awarded a MacArthur Foundation Fellowship. He holds a bachelor's degree from the University of California, Los Angeles, and a master's and doctorate from Pennsylvania State University. He directs the Undocumented Migration Project, a long-term anthropological study of clandestine migration between Latin America and the United States, and is the author of The Land of Open Graves: Living and Dying on the Sonoran Desert Migrant Trail (2015), a book that examines the consequences of United States immigration policies. The Land of Open Graves won, among other accolades, the American Anthropological Association Society for Latin American and Caribbean Anthropology book prize and the J.I. Staley Book Prize from the School for Advanced Research. He has curated multiple exhibits, including the award-winning State of Exception and the global pop-up exhibition Hostile Terrain 94 that will happen in 94 locations in a 72-hour period in 2020. Professor De León has recently produced the documentary film Border South, which examines the experiences of Central American migrants crossing Mexico.

RHODES, MARSHALL, AND CHURCHILL SCHOLARSHIPS

Rhodes, Marshall, and Churchill Scholarships are among the world's most prestigious academic awards for graduate students. Since the estate of British philanthropist Cecil John Rhodes established Rhodes Scholarships in 1904, 27 University of Michigan alumni have studied as Rhodes Scholars at Oxford University. Thirty-two Americans are named Rhodes Scholars each year.

Marshall Scholarships, founded by an Act of Parliament in 1953, finance opportunities for young American scholars of high ability to study in the United Kingdom. The scholarship commemorates the humane ideals of the European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan) and funds one or two years of study. Thirty-one Marshall Scholarships are awarded annually to American students who demonstrate potential to excel as scholars, as leaders, and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding.

The Churchill Scholarship started in 1963 with three awards and has since grown to 14. It provides funding to American students for a year of Master's study in science, mathematics, and engineering at the University of Cambridge, based at Churchill College. The Scholarship was set up at the request of Sir Winston Churchill in order to fulfill his vision of US-UK scientific exchange with the goal of advancing science and technology on both sides of the Atlantic, helping to ensure our future prosperity and security. The Churchill Scholarship has been called the most academically challenging of the UK scholarships. In total, thirteen students from Michigan have been named Churchill Scholars.

We proudly recognize the following students who were endorsed by the University of Michigan this year:

Alison Alkire Marshall Nominee
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

RAOUL WALLENBERG FELLOWSHIP

Inspired by the spirit of Raoul Wallenberg, the Wallenberg Fellowship is awarded in the spring of each year to a graduating senior of exceptional promise and accomplishment who is committed to service and the public good. The fellowship provides $25,000 to carry out an independent project of learning or exploration anywhere in the world during the year after graduation. The Fellow will engage in a self-designed and self-directed area of exploration or project of experiential learning. Through an active and immersive year-long experience, and by connecting in meaningful ways with the lives of other people and communities, the Wallenberg Fellow will prepare to make a difference in the world.

The Fellowship honors Raoul Wallenberg (B.S. Arch. '35), one of the most illustrious graduates of the University of Michigan. At U-M, Wallenberg was recognized for the excellence of his academic work, his eagerness for knowledge of the world and for understanding others, and for his intrepid independence and resourcefulness. He left Ann Arbor resolved to be actively engaged in life. Ten years later, as a Swedish diplomat during World War II, Wallenberg coordinated the rescue of tens of thousands of Jews in Budapest. He disappeared after he was arrested by Soviet authorities. One of the great heroes of the 20th century, Raoul Wallenberg shows that even under the most daunting circumstances, one person can make a difference.

The University of Michigan would like to express its deep appreciation to U-M parents Jon and Lili Bosse and U-M alumnus Bert Askwith (B.A. '31). Jon and Lili Bosse's generous gift initiated the Wallenberg Fellowship in 2013. In 2014, Bert Askwith generously created the Mary Sue Coleman Endowed Fund for the Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship to support future generations of Michigan students who are inspired by Wallenberg's legacy, and to honor President Coleman's leadership during her tenure at U-M.

The Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship recipient and finalists this year are:

Carly Marten College of Literature, Science, and the Arts	Wallenberg Recipient
Chelsea Racelis College of Literature, Science, and the Arts Stephen M. Ross School of Business	Wallenberg Finalist
Claire Wixson School of Public Health	Wallenberg Finalist

2019 THURNAU PROFESSORS

The Thurnau Professorships were established in 1988 to recognize and reward faculty for outstanding contributions to undergraduate education. The professorships honor tenured faculty members who, through their commitment and investment in undergraduate teaching, have had a positive impact on the intellectual development and lives of students.

Arthur F. Thurnau, for whom the Thurnau Professorship is named, attended the University of Michigan from fall of 1902 until spring of 1904. He studied a liberal arts curriculum, but he did not graduate. This was not uncommon for the time, and although his three brothers also attended the University of Michigan, only one of them graduated. In his two years here, Arthur completed 58 credits of French, German, history, English, rhetoric, politics, and economics. He also was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and sang in the Freshmen Glee Club.

Arthur later returned to Chicago, and worked as an “ad man,” selling advertising space in various magazines and newspapers. In this role, he eventually rose to the position of vice president and western manager for the firm Paul Block, Inc. He was actively involved in U-M alumni events in Chicago, even trying to arrange a football game between the Wolverines and the University of Chicago Maroons during that period of time when Chicago was part of the Big Ten Conference and Michigan was not. He also put his organizational talents to work during World War II by creating events to encourage the sale of government bonds.

Arthur Thurnau’s generosity to the University of Michigan began in 1966, and continued through the rest of his life. Upon his death in 1979, his estate created the Thurnau Charitable Trust to support the University of Michigan. Since 1988, these funds have been used to support the Thurnau Professorships. Thurnau Professors receive $20,000 grants to support activities that enhance teaching. It is this important recognition for faculty that Arthur F. Thurnau so generously provided for and that the University of Michigan celebrates. The University is pleased to recognize this year’s Thurnau Professors.

Henriette D. M. Elvang

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Physics
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Delivering outstanding physics courses from the 100- through the 600-level, Professor Elvang is an exceptional instructor who “combines particularly eloquent presentations with a relaxed, completely approachable personal style that draws students in and elicits open interaction,” according to faculty colleagues. Students say her innovative approach to teaching with an emphasis on conceptual understanding supported by mathematical precision helps them deeply internalize material. Using oral exams and writing assignments along with equations and problem sets challenges students to explain what they are learning, and word has rapidly spread that Professor Elvang’s classes build essential communication skills in a supportive environment. She has transformed the curriculum by creating an honors version of Physics 360, which reaches students at the sophomore level, turning terrain that used to deter students from majoring in the discipline into a space and time where they enthusiastically wrestle with physics. This course has contributed to a doubling in the number of majors over the past seven years. Thanks to Professor Elvang’s mentoring program, GSIs for 400-level courses are prepared to apply teaching strategies backed by physics and general education research, thereby creating better learning environments in upper-level courses throughout the department. As a leader of a new generation of physicists with advanced pedagogical skills, Professor Elvang’s impact ripples far beyond her own classrooms.

Bogdan Epureanu

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Mechanical Engineering
Professor of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science
College of Engineering

Professor Epureanu’s superb contributions to undergraduate engineering education are seen most clearly in his teaching of ME240, “Introduction to Dynamics and Vibrations.” Since 2002, more than 1,200 sophomores have taken his sections of this required course described as a “GPA killer with tons of new concepts, new methods and mathematical equations.” Students report moving from dread to enthusiasm thanks to Professor Epureanu’s emphasis on experiential and problem-based learning that helps them bridge the gap between mathematically complex concepts and lasting understandings of how to apply those concepts. For example, small vibrating “nanobugs” give students hands-on experience observing and modeling random motion before they work through more abstract graphs and equations. Former students report that the impact of such experiences extend well beyond their coursework, preparing them for success in their first engineering jobs. Beyond the classroom, Professor Epureanu has mentored 80 undergraduates in his research lab. International students in particular feel valued in his research teams, and they appreciate the model he provides for pursuing a professional career in the U.S. He also serves as the faculty mentor for the local chapter of the National Mechanical Engineering Honor Society and the founder of the U-M Forecasting Club, which applies theory to the prediction of catastrophic events in systems.

Sandra R. Gunning

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Afroamerican and African Studies
Professor of American Culture
Professor of English Language and Literature
Professor of Women's Studies
Professor in the Honors Program
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Gunning's teaching excellence is reflected in both the breadth and depth of her contributions. She has offered over 20 unique undergraduate courses, and she has focused intensive effort on making two large, foundational courses outstanding learning experiences for her students. "Introduction to Africa and Its Diaspora" and "American Values" are interdisciplinary courses drawing students from across the university, and Professor Gunning asks them to tackle challenging material about race and ethnicity across historical contexts. She invites students to take responsibility for their own education by assigning them 1,700-word illustrated research papers that ultimately constitute a class encyclopedia and become required reading for the rest of the course. By creating a system in which each student has a chance to be the expert, she develops a socially just learning environment for a diverse student population. Drawing on research from the field of intergroup relations, Professor Gunning has developed a set of best pedagogical practices and organized workshops for faculty new to teaching these important foundational courses. She also mentors graduate student instructors, many of whom inhabit marginalized identities. Colleagues who seek out Professor Gunning for advice, conversations, and ideas about teaching say "she is sympathetic, thoughtful, and always puts the undergraduates first."

Sandra R. Levitsky

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Associate Professor of Sociology
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Levitsky delivers compelling lectures and fosters vibrant discussions while working with large groups of undergraduates: her 300- and 400-level courses range from 50-150 students, while enrollment in her Sociology 100 course usually surpasses 200. No matter the course size or level, her evaluations are outstanding. Students say she inspires them to think in new ways, to recognize the complexity and fluidity of the social world, and to challenge their personal presuppositions. Not surprisingly, many go on to major in the discipline, and Professor Levitsky has attracted still more through her curricular work as the director of the undergraduate program. Notably, she has broadened the curriculum to better serve those thinking about careers at the intersection of law and society and health and society. Faculty colleagues appreciate that her efforts to expand sociology's appeal have done so while maintaining the focus on core disciplinary skills, emphasizing the centrality of data analysis as a critical means of understanding social patterns and trends. Another key initiative launched by Professor Levitsky recognizes that a quarter of sociology majors are first-generation college students. Designed to draw on this group's strengths of leadership, persistence, and curiosity, the Sociology Opportunities for Undergraduate Leadership (SOUL) program addresses financial concerns with paid research opportunities that connect students with faculty mentors. The program is serving as a model for other academic units across the campus.

Adam C. Simon

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Earth and Environmental Sciences
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts
Professor of Environment
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts,
School for Environment and Sustainability

Professor Simon devotes significant time and talent to helping young adults discover their intellectual passions and life paths. His 9 different earth and environmental science offerings range from large introductory courses to small, immersive field experiences that allow students to interact directly with operators of energy extraction and production industries. Direct student engagement is a hallmark of his teaching, and in “Mineral Resources, Economics, and the Environment,” the Ann Arbor campus itself becomes a site of inquiry, where students design projects, gather data, and formulate and evaluate solutions to actual environmental issues facing the U-M community. Professor Simon also contributes broadly to the improvement of science education: He participates in an interdisciplinary faculty community of practice that is working to make 100 case studies globally available for teaching environmental issues, and he regularly team-teaches a course for elementary education majors who will teach K-6 science. His support for diversity, equity, and inclusion is reflected in his active recruitment of diverse participants into his research group, and the ways he helps less privileged students plan ways around barriers like costly field experiences. The director of the Program in the Environment notes that Professor Simon “pushes for intellectual rigor, improving mentoring of undergraduate students, and exploring innovations that can be deployed throughout the curriculum.”

Michaela T. Zint

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Professor of Environment and Sustainability
School for Environment and Sustainability
Professor of Environment
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts,
School for Environment and Sustainability
Professor of Education
School of Education

Professor Zint’s innovative teaching and long-term mentoring reflect her extraordinary dedication to the undergraduate Program in the Environment, which named her an Outstanding Instructor in 2017. About 75 students per year emerge from her two foundational courses uniquely empowered to tackle environmental and sustainability challenges. Research on her teaching methods indicates the importance of students’ earning confidence in their ability to make a difference by translating their learning into action beyond the classroom. For example, in the required ENVIRON 211 “Social Sciences and Environmental Problems” course, students work alongside U-M staff to develop recommendations for addressing campus sustainability challenges, and many are motivated to persist past the semester’s end to implement their projects. Writes one student, “Before working with Dr. Zint, I never saw myself doing research or having such a significant impact on the university.” Her environmental education students in ENVIRON 382 similarly create lessons rooted in research-based best practices and deliver them to local K-12 and adult audiences. Professor Zint’s broader impact on the curriculum can be seen in successful efforts to obtain institutional approval for a new combined bachelor’s and master’s degree. The cost-effective, accelerated timeline of the program will enable a more diverse group of students to pursue an advanced degree in environmental studies.

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOM

The colorful gowns and hoods worn by faculty members at commencement and other academic ceremonies represent the degrees, disciplines, and alma maters of the wearers. The American academic costume tradition, imported from England, dates to Colonial days.

Gowns

Bachelor's or master's degree gowns traditionally are black, as are many doctoral gowns in the United States. Some universities prescribe that their graduates wear gowns of another solid color such as blue, crimson, or green. Gowns differ in sleeve cut and trim. For example, the bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves while the master's gown has oblong sleeves. Doctoral gowns, with their distinctive bell-shaped sleeves, feature velvet panels down the front and around the neck, as well as crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. Colored trim denotes the field or discipline in which the degree was earned. Usually only a single degree from one institution is indicated by a garment. If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher or highest degree usually are worn.

Hoods

The hood most precisely describes the wearer's level of degree earned, the major field of learning, and the alma mater. The level of the degree held is indicated by the hood's shape and size and the width of its velvet or velveteen trimming. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are 36 inches, 42 inches, and 48 inches long, respectively. The velvet trim is two, three, and five inches wide, with the narrowest being for the bachelor's hood and the widest for the doctor's hood. The color of trim on the hood, as on the gown, identifies the major field of learning in which the degree was awarded. The hood is lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

Caps

Caps vary in style from the traditional black mortarboard to eight-, six-, and four-corner tams, and Elizabethan-style caps. The mortarboard may be of any appropriate material, such as cotton, poplin, rayon, or silk, to match the gown. Velvet is reserved for holders of doctorates.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The University's mace, a symbol of authority, is carried at the head of academic processions on such important ceremonial occasions as commencements, convocations, and inaugurations. The mace being used today was given to the University in 1968 by the Senior Board, representing all the undergraduate schools and colleges. Crafted of red oak and trimmed with silver, the mace features the seals of the University and of the State of Michigan. Also engraved on the mace are the names of the University Presidents.

JAMES B. ANGELL SCHOLARS

Statement on Freedom of Speech and Artistic Expression

Thank you for attending this program. The University of Michigan strives to create a truly open forum, one in which diverse opinions can be expressed and heard.

It is the right of members of the University community, speakers, artists, and other invited guests to express their views and opinions at the University. We will protect the right of individuals to speak or perform, and the rights of those members of the University community who wish to hear and communicate with an invited speaker or artist.

Protesters also have a right to express their opposition to a speaker in appropriate ways, both within the confines of this building and outside the facility. However, protesters must not interfere unduly with communication between a speaker or artist and members of the audience.

If the hosts of this event or University representatives believe that protesters are interfering unduly with a speaker or performer's freedom of expression, those protesters will be warned. If the warnings are not heeded and the interference continues, then the individuals responsible may be removed from the building.

We reaffirm these policies in order to most fully protect the rights of free expression for speakers, performers, and protesters alike, as set forth by our Civil Liberties Board in our Student Handbook, and in accordance with the U-M Standard Practice Guide; Regents' Ordinance Article XII, Section 1; and state statutes.
