

101ST ANNUAL HONORS CONVOCATION

MARCH 24, 2024

2:00 PM

HILL AUDITORIUM

This year marks the 101st Honors Convocation held at the University of Michigan since the first was instituted on May 13, 1924, by President Marion LeRoy Burton. On these occasions, the University publicly recognizes and commends the undergraduate students in its schools and colleges who have earned distinguished academic records or have excelled as leaders in the community. It is with great pride that the University honors those students who have most clearly and effectively demonstrated academic excellence, dynamic leadership, and inspirational volunteerism. The Honors Convocation ranks with the Commencement Exercises as among the most important ceremonies of the University year.

The names of the students who are honored for outstanding achievement this year appear in this program. They include all students who have earned University Honors in both Winter 2023 and Fall 2023, plus all seniors who have earned University Honors in either Winter 2023 or Fall 2023. The William J. Branstrom Freshman Prize recipients are listed, as well – recognizing first year undergraduate students whose academic achievement during their first semester on campus place them in the upper five percent of their school or college class. James B. Angell Scholars – students who receive all “A” grades over consecutive terms – are given a special place in the program. In addition, the student speaker is recognized individually for exemplary contributions to the University community.

To all honored students, and to their families, the University extends its hearty congratulations.

Laurie K. McCauley • Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

Honored Students
Honored Faculty
Faculty Colleagues and Friends of the University

Welcome to the 101st University of Michigan Honors Convocation.

On behalf of the academic leaders from the Ann Arbor, Dearborn, and Flint campuses, we extend our gratitude for your presence as we celebrate the outstanding academic accomplishments of undergraduate students from all three of our campuses.

For more than a century, the Honors Convocation ceremony has shined a light on those students who distinguish themselves through extraordinary dedication to their studies.

The pressures acting on contemporary students are significant and numerous. Today's students come of age in a world rife with economic, academic, and geopolitical complexities that affect their daily lives. In addition, they must balance the perennial challenges of maintaining a healthy social life, looking at employment prospects, and attending to their well-being.

This makes the superlative achievement displayed by today's honorees all the more worthy of recognition and praise.

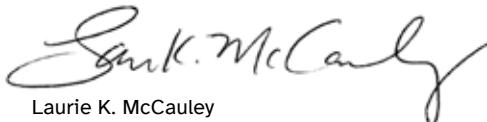

The students here today have risen above a substantial array of obstacles and set an inspiring example. They have proven themselves intellectually versatile, innovative, resilient, and adaptable.

Many distinguished faculty members have played essential roles in guiding our honors students to this impressive summit. The faculty sharing this occasion with us have proven themselves to be exemplars of our values in teaching and scholarship. These faculty represent many more who enable our students to develop expertise, thrive on our campuses, and carry our mission into the world.

Today's celebration also honors the parents, family members, and friends who supported our students during their time here. To all of you who have dedicated yourself to our students' success and wellbeing: we are pleased and proud you could join us for what may be the academic calendar's brightest day.

Congratulations, graduates. You have inspired us with your achievements and surpassed all expectations. You have earned every moment of today's joyous celebration.

Sincerely,

Laurie K. McCauley
Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

The Council is sponsored by Vice Provost Tabbye Chavous and coordinated by Assistant Vice Provost Deborah Willis and Executive Assistant Marionette Cano.

We would like to thank Scott Piper, Norma L Heyde Faculty Development Professor and Chair of Voice and Associate Professor of Music, School of Music, Theatre & Dance, for his expert assistance in choosing the student soloists for our ceremony.

HONORS CONVOCATION SPEAKERS

Anne-Marie Atanga

Junior, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts and School of Music, Theatre & Dance

Anne-Marie Atanga, a junior from Flint, Michigan, is a soprano and an aspiring neurologist. She is earning two undergraduate degrees: a bachelor of science degree in neuroscience on the pre-med track from the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts and a bachelor of musical arts in voice performance from the School of Music, Theatre & Dance. In her first year, she ranked in the top five percent of her class and was awarded the William J. Branstrom Freshman Prize.

Anne-Marie has complemented her dual-degree classroom studies with hands-on extracurricular work. As a student researcher at the Concussion Center, she helped gather baseline brain data from student athletes. She served as project lead and software developer for the Michigan Neuroprosthetics Design Team effort to create affordable prosthetic arms for children in Washtenaw County. She also assisted a primary investigator at the Frankel Cardiovascular Center on a project to model treatments for a gene mutation in mice and presented the findings at a research symposium. Within the musical realm, Anne-Marie teaches underrepresented youth ages 5-14 private and group piano lessons at Our Own Thing, a facet of the Willis Patterson Chorale and Instructional Program. She also volunteers for Music for Dementia, singing and playing the piano for patients in assisted living in Ann Arbor. In January, she was a finalist in the School of Music's 2024 Concerto Competition and, in May, she will make her symphonic debut as soprano soloist in Carmina Burana with the Flint Symphony Orchestra.

Herbert G. Winful

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

University Diversity and Social Transformation Professor

Joseph E and Anne P Rowe Professor of Electrical Engineering

Arthur F Thurnau Professor

Professor of Electrical Engineering and Computer Science, College of Engineering

Professor of Physics, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Herbert Graves Winful is an expert in photonics and quantum electronics and has led pioneering research in nonlinear fiber optics, nonlinear optics in periodic structures, the nonlinear dynamics of laser arrays, the propagation of single-cycle pulses, and the physics of quantum tunneling, with applications for optical communications and high-powered lasers. He also is an excellent teacher. After only his second semester at the University of Michigan, electrical engineering students voted him best professor. Six years later, in 1993, U-M awarded him its most prestigious teaching honor, the Arthur F. Thurnau professorship.

Dr. Winful earned his B.S. in electrical engineering at MIT and his doctorate at the University of Southern California. He grew up in Ghana and learned from his father, a civil engineer, that engineers work for the betterment of humanity. He holds two patents and his research has been cited more than 10,000 times. At U-M, he helped establish the Center for Ultrafast Optical Science, a National Science Foundation Science and Technology Center. He has served as faculty advisor for the Graduate Society of Black Engineers and Scientists for more than 20 years and has made mentoring students a defining facet of his life's work.

Professor Winful is a Fellow of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE); the American Physical Society; Optica, the Optical Society of America; and the Ghana Academy of Arts and Sciences. He has received the State of Michigan Teaching Excellence Award, the Harold R. Johnson Outreach and Diversity Award, and the 2020 IEEE Photonics Society Quantum Electronics Award, among many others. A pianist, he plays from time to time in Pierpont Commons, the student union for north campus.

RHODES, MARSHALL, AND CHURCHILL SCHOLARSHIPS

Rhodes, Marshall, and Churchill Scholarships are among the world's most prestigious academic awards for graduate students. Since the estate of British philanthropist Cecil John Rhodes established Rhodes Scholarships in 1904, dozens of University of Michigan alumni have studied as Rhodes Scholars at Oxford University. Thirty-two Americans are named Rhodes Scholars each year.

Marshall Scholarships, founded by an Act of Parliament in 1953, finance opportunities for young American scholars of high ability to study in the United Kingdom. The scholarship commemorates the humane ideals of the European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan) and funds one or two years of study. Thirty-one Marshall Scholarships are awarded annually to American students who demonstrate potential to excel as scholars, as leaders, and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding.

The Churchill Scholarship started in 1963 with three awards and has since grown to 14. It provides funding to American students for a year of Master's study in science, mathematics, and engineering at the University of Cambridge, based at Churchill College. The scholarship was set up at the request of Sir Winston Churchill in order to fulfill his vision of US-UK scientific exchange with the goal of advancing science and technology on both sides of the Atlantic, helping to ensure our future prosperity and security. The Churchill Scholarship has been called the most academically challenging of the UK scholarships. Over the years, several students from Michigan have been named Churchill Scholars.

We proudly recognize the following students who were endorsed by the University of Michigan this year:

Thomas Chen College of Literature, Science, and the Arts	Rhodes Finalist
Aarushi Ganguly School of Public Health College of Literature, Science, and the Arts	Marshall Nominee, Rhodes Nominee
Jordan Halpern College of Literature, Science, and the Arts	Marshall Nominee

RAOUL WALLENBERG FELLOWSHIP

Inspired by the spirit of Raoul Wallenberg, the Wallenberg Fellowship is awarded in the spring of each year to a graduating senior of exceptional promise and accomplishment who is committed to service and the public good. The fellowship provides $25,000 to carry out an independent project of learning or exploration anywhere in the world during the year after graduation. The Fellow will engage in a self-designed and self-directed area of exploration or project of experiential learning. Through an active and immersive year-long experience, and by connecting in meaningful ways with the lives of other people and communities, the Wallenberg Fellow will prepare to make a difference in the world.

The Fellowship honors Raoul Wallenberg (B.S. Arch. '35), one of the most illustrious graduates of the University of Michigan. At U-M, Wallenberg was recognized for the excellence of his academic work, his eagerness for knowledge of the world and for understanding others, and for his intrepid independence and resourcefulness. He left Ann Arbor resolved to be actively engaged in life. Ten years later, as a Swedish diplomat during World War II, Wallenberg coordinated the rescue of tens of thousands of Jews in Budapest. He disappeared after he was arrested by Soviet authorities. One of the great heroes of the 20th century, Raoul Wallenberg shows that even under the most daunting circumstances, one person can make a difference.

The University of Michigan would like to express its deep appreciation to U-M parents Jon and Lili Bosse and U-M alumnus Bert Askwith (B.A. '31). Jon and Lili Bosse's generous gift initiated the Wallenberg Fellowship in 2013. In 2014, Bert Askwith generously created the Mary Sue Coleman Endowed Fund for the Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship to support future generations of Michigan students who are inspired by Wallenberg's legacy, and to honor President Coleman's leadership during her tenure at U-M.

The Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship recipient this year is:

Saige Porter

2024 THURNAU PROFESSORS

The Thurnau Professorships were established in 1988 to recognize and reward faculty for outstanding contributions to undergraduate education. The professorships honor tenured faculty members who, through their commitment and investment in undergraduate teaching, have had a positive impact on the intellectual development and lives of students.

Arthur F. Thurnau, for whom the Thurnau Professorship is named, attended the University of Michigan from fall of 1902 until spring of 1904. He studied a liberal arts curriculum, but he did not graduate. This was not uncommon for the time, and although his three brothers also attended the University of Michigan, only one of them graduated. In his two years here, Arthur completed 58 credits of French, German, history, English, rhetoric, politics, and economics. He also was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and sang in the Freshmen Glee Club.

Arthur later returned to Chicago, and worked as an “ad man,” selling advertising space in various magazines and newspapers. In this role, he eventually rose to the position of vice president and western manager for the firm Paul Block, Inc. He was actively involved in U-M alumni events in Chicago, even trying to arrange a football game between the Wolverines and the University of Chicago Maroons during that period of time when Chicago was part of the Big Ten Conference and Michigan was not. He also put his organizational talents to work during World War II by creating events to encourage the sale of government bonds.

Arthur Thurnau’s generosity to the University of Michigan began in 1966, and continued through the rest of his life. Upon his death in 1979, his estate created the Thurnau Charitable Trust to support the University of Michigan. Since 1988, these funds have been used to support the Thurnau Professorships. Thurnau Professors receive $20,000 grants to support activities that enhance teaching. It is this important recognition for faculty that Arthur F. Thurnau so generously provided for and that the University of Michigan celebrates. The University is pleased to recognize this year’s Thurnau Professors.

Deirdre Leong de la Cruz

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Associate Professor of Asian Languages and Culture and Associate Professor of History

College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

A dynamic and popular teacher, Professor de la Cruz creates courses that interweave complex multimedia content related to the histories of Asia, religion, and popular culture. She has developed an impressive number of new and engaging courses in both History and in Asian Languages and Cultures (ALC) that are anchored in her deep expertise in the history of the Philippines, religion, and U.S. colonialism. In both departments, she has made fundamental contributions to the rethinking and development of undergraduate curricula. In ALC, she pushed beyond the department's traditional focus on language and literature, opening a truly interdisciplinary and exciting teaching space and resulting in a sharp uptake in students interested in Southeast Asia. Professor de la Cruz also played an instrumental role in the creation of History 202, "Doing History," a large course that exposes principally non-majors to methods, materials, and analytical frameworks employed to understand historical patterns and narratives. Finally, through digital projects such as an online exhibit focused on U-M's involvement in U.S. imperial projects in the Philippines, Professor de la Cruz emphasizes the benefits of collaborative work and the importance of scholarly reflection on the past. Her students come to understand how archives can speak, to ask whose voices are missing, and to question the premises behind the acquisition of a collection. As a result, she is seen as a mentor who "serves as a compass for personal, academic, and professional journeys" for her students.

Anouck R. Girard

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Professor of Robotics and Professor of Aerospace Engineering

College of Engineering

Professor Girard's innovative teaching and deep engagement with outreach have created profound changes in the aerospace engineering curriculum and the new robotics major. In response to student interest, she redesigned the introductory aerospace engineering course (AEROSP 201) in 2021, shifting the focus from aircraft to spacecraft and incorporating best practices for hybrid teaching. Covering a stunning breadth of topics, the course now prepares students for success in required 300-level courses. As a result, students are now capable of much more sophisticated designs by their senior year. As enrollments have risen, so too has the workload of grading project-based assignments. She has met this challenge by creating clear rubrics and enlisting the support of a team of undergraduate instructional assistants and graders. During her career, she has mentored 45 undergraduate students in independent research projects, and she promotes and relies on their capabilities. With undergraduate students, Professor Girard has put together high-profile and effective K-12 initiatives to attract more diverse students to engineering. Undergraduates develop new activities and conduct most workshops, leading one student to write, "working for her has increased my self-confidence, developed my leadership skills, shaped my professional actions, and continues to feed my drive for knowledge." More than 2,500 K-12 participants have explored engineering since 2017 through creative and innovative activities like "Quadcopter Quidditch." These efforts have garnered College of Engineering awards that recognize her groundbreaking accomplishments and contributions to STEM through outreach.

Nicholas C. Henriksen

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Associate Professor of Spanish and Associate Professor of Linguistics

College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Henriksen's pedagogy skillfully integrates research, teaching, curricular development, and DEI initiatives. He cultivates students' enthusiasm for Spanish language study and nurtures their capacity for linguistics research. A carefully crafted course sequence moves students from analyzing linguistic patterns to understanding phonetics and phonology. In his advanced courses, students explore the social significance of language variation and forms of linguistic injustice that intertwine with race, indigeneity, gender, disability, class, and nationality. Students thus develop a comprehensive understanding of linguistics within their social and cultural contexts. His efforts have significantly boosted enrollments in linguistics and diversified the curriculum for Spanish majors and minors. He has secured teaching grants and built collaborations to provide hand-on research experiences for students. In 2015, Professor Henriksen co-founded the Speech Production Lab, through which more than 150 students have engaged in research through independent studies, honors theses, the Undergraduate Research Opportunity Program, work-study programs, or paid internships. This body of work has generated 12 publications co-authored with current and former undergraduate students. Professor Henriksen also has served on several committees within his department and across the college that promote a more welcoming, supportive, and inclusive academic community for all students. This includes pioneering work on gender inclusivity in language instruction. Reflecting on his advocacy for teaching nonbinary language forms, one student notes, "Not only does this change reflect real-world shifts in romance languages, but it welcomes students who previously felt excluded by a strict gender binary."

LaKisha M. Simmons

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Associate Professor of Women's and Gender Studies and Associate Professor of History

College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Named a Distinguished Lecturer by the Organization of American Historians, Professor Simmons is transforming scholarship and students in powerful ways by centering voices that were historically hard to hear. Over the course of 10 semesters, she has taught 10 different undergraduate courses, ranging from small seminars to 300-student lectures. She is particularly interested in cultivating students' knowledge about American history and the development of the concept of U.S. citizenship in relationship to sexism, racism, and colonialism. Her courses invite students to connect their own family histories to larger social and political changes, to craft narratives about underrecognized Black historical figures and experiences, and to contribute to public platforms where history is discussed. In one project, students researched prominent Black American women and composed Wikipedia articles to address the gap in representation. Students commented on the feeling of authority these assignments gave them. For students of color who felt themselves to be on the margins of the university, it was an opportunity to author public history. Professor Simmons's influence on undergraduate education extends beyond her own classroom. She teaches two courses on history pedagogy for graduate student instructors. She makes time to mentor numerous undergraduates and conduct outreach initiatives in the community, and she is working with the State of Michigan's Department of Education to develop a webinar series with new resources and perspectives on teaching comprehensive history for elementary and secondary school educators.

Sara B. Soderstrom

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor
Associate Professor of Organizational Studies
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts
Associate Professor of Environment and Sustainability
School for Environment and Sustainability
Associate Professor of Management and Organizations
Stephen M. Ross School of Business

A celebrated teacher and expert on corporations and environmental sustainability, Professor Soderstrom challenges her students to find answers that will allow both businesses and our biosphere to thrive. She has supported their ability to do this work by building a campus infrastructure in little more than a decade while simultaneously earning six different teaching awards. She proved the existence of considerable untapped student demand when her Business and the Environment (OS 208) course scaled from 67 students in 2014 to around 200 students each winter. One student described her teaching as “able to take a notoriously nebulous topic—sustainability—and create structure that was both concrete and provided space for creativity.” Her reworked Sustainable Campus (ENV 391) course fosters project-based relationships between groups of students and university organizations. Furthermore, she has directly mentored over 160 students as research assistants, on independent studies, for honors theses, and for applied internship research. She also created Business, Sustainability, and Justice (ENV 419), a seminar where students engage with questions of power and privilege and envision a future of equitable sustainability. In 2020, she inaugurated the Erb Undergraduate Fellows Program, thereby opening to undergraduates an initiative of the Ross School of Business and the School of Environment and Sustainability that has served masters students for 25 years. Recently appointed as the director of the Program in the Environment, she is encouraging collaboration among schools to increase the quantity and quality of undergraduate education in sustainability across U-M.

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOM

The colorful gowns and hoods worn by faculty members at commencement and other academic ceremonies represent the degrees, disciplines, and alma maters of the wearers. The American academic costume tradition, imported from England, dates to Colonial days.

Gowns

Bachelor's or master's degree gowns traditionally are black, as are many doctoral gowns in the United States. Some universities prescribe that their graduates wear gowns of another solid color such as blue, crimson, or green. Gowns differ in sleeve cut and trim. For example, the bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves while the master's gown has oblong sleeves. Doctoral gowns, with their distinctive bell-shaped sleeves, feature velvet panels down the front and around the neck, as well as crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. Colored trim denotes the field or discipline in which the degree was earned. Usually only a single degree from one institution is indicated by a garment. If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher or highest degree usually are worn.

Hoods

The hood most precisely describes the wearer's level of degree earned, the major field of learning, and the alma mater. The level of the degree held is indicated by the hood's shape and size and the width of its velvet or velveteen trimming. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are 36 inches, 42 inches, and 48 inches long, respectively. The velvet trim is two, three, and five inches wide, with the narrowest being for the bachelor's hood and the widest for the doctor's hood. The color of trim on the hood, as on the gown, identifies the major field of learning in which the degree was awarded. The hood is lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

Caps

Caps vary in style from the traditional black mortarboard to eight-, six-, and four-corner tams, and Elizabethan-style caps. The mortarboard may be of any appropriate material, such as cotton, poplin, rayon, or silk, to match the gown. Velvet is reserved for holders of doctorates.

MARSHALS OF THE UNIVERSITY

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The University's mace is a symbol of academic scholarship, integrity, and authority. It is carried by the chair of the University Senate at the head of academic processions on such important ceremonial occasions as commencements, convocations, and inaugurations, representing the connection of all faculty members to important academic rituals. The mace being used today was given to the University in 1968 by the Senior Board, representing all the undergraduate schools and colleges. Crafted of red oak and trimmed with silver, the mace features the seals of the University and of the State of Michigan. Also engraved on the mace are the names of the University Presidents.

JAMES B. ANGELL SCHOLARS

Students who achieve an "A" record (all grades of A+, A, or A-) for two or more consecutive terms are recognized as James B. Angell Scholars. The student must have taken a minimum of 14 credit hours each term, including at least 12 credits elected on a graded (A-E) basis.

UNIVERSITY HONORS

The University Honors designation is awarded to students who earned a 3.5 grade point average or higher during a term. The student must have taken a minimum of 14 credit hours during the term, including at least 12 credits elected on a graded (A-E) basis. Students who achieve University Honors designation for both the winter 2023 term and fall 2023 term are recognized at Honors Convocation. Seniors who achieve University Honors for at least one of these two terms are recognized at Honors Convocation.

THE YELLOW AND BLUE

Sing to the colors that float in the light;
Hurrah for the Yellow and Blue!

Yellow the stars as they ride thro' the night,
And reel in a rollicking crew;

Yellow the fields where ripens the grain,
And Yellow the moon on the harvest wain;

Hail!

Hail to the colors that float in the light;
Hurrah for the Yellow and Blue!
