

102ND ANNUAL HONORS CONVOCATION

MARCH 16, 2025
2:00 PM
HILL AUDITORIUM

This year marks the 102nd Honors Convocation held at the University of Michigan since the first was instituted on May 13, 1924, by President Marion LeRoy Burton. On these occasions, the University publicly recognizes and commends the undergraduate students in its schools and colleges who have earned distinguished academic records or have excelled as leaders in the community. It is with great pride that the University honors those students who have most clearly and effectively demonstrated academic excellence, dynamic leadership, and inspirational volunteerism. The Honors Convocation ranks with the Commencement Exercises as among the most important ceremonies of the University year.

The names of the students who are honored for outstanding achievement this year appear in this program. They include all students who have earned University Honors in both Winter 2024 and Fall 2024, plus all seniors who have earned University Honors in either Winter 2024 or Fall 2024. The William J. Branstrom Freshman Prize recipients are listed, as well — recognizing first year undergraduate students whose academic achievement during their first semester on campus places them in the upper five percent of their school or college class. James B. Angell Scholars — students who receive all “A” grades over consecutive terms — are given a special place in the program. In addition, the student speaker is recognized individually for exemplary contributions to the University community.

To all honored students, and to their families, the University extends its hearty congratulations.

Laurie K. McCauley • Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

Honored Students
Honored Faculty
Faculty Colleagues and Friends of the University

Welcome to the 102nd University of Michigan Honors Convocation.

On behalf of the academic leaders from the Ann Arbor, Dearborn, and Flint campuses, thank you for gathering today to celebrate our honored students through the lens of their remarkable resilience. This year's theme asks us to recognize not only our honoree's outstanding academic achievements, but their fortitude as human beings.

When our students are admitted, they often begin to think of themselves as Wolverines — the latest cohort to wear the mantle of our university's famous mascot. Today, we recognize the scholarly accomplishments of students who truly embody the spirit of tenacity and perseverance that make the wolverine such an apt symbol for the Michigan way.

Our honorees have navigated their studies with determination and intellectual vigor, mastering complex subjects while cultivating the mental and emotional strength essential for sustained success.

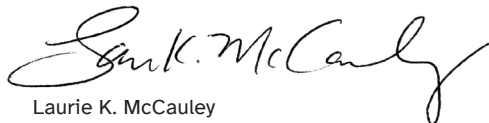

In an era of rapid transformation, these students have shown an extraordinary capacity to adapt and excel. They have brought analytical precision, creativity, and insight to their work in and out of the classroom, and enriched their peers' understanding of complex topics alongside their own. They have embraced the challenges of multifaceted learning with remarkable poise. Many of these students' achievements have transcended academic excellence. They have developed crucial life skills, leadership instincts, and passions that will fortify them for years to come.

We extend special recognition to our distinguished faculty, whose guidance and mentorship have been instrumental in making Michigan a university of international distinction. Their commitment to nurturing both the intellectual and personal growth of our students exemplifies Michigan's dedication to holistic education.

To the families and friends whose unwavering support has been vital to our honorees' success: your role in this celebration cannot be overstated. Your presence today adds immeasurable depth and meaning to today's ceremony.

Today, we not only celebrate individual achievement but also acknowledge the collective strength of our university community. Each honoree represents the finest traditions of Michigan excellence while embodying the resilient spirit that will shape our future.

With pride and admiration,

Laurie K. McCauley
Provost and Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs

HONORS CONVOCATION SPEAKERS

Carter Van Erp

Senior, School of Music, Theatre & Dance

Carter Van Erp is a senior (and 5-term Angell Scholar) majoring in performing arts management and theatre studies in SMTD's Department of Theatre & Drama, after previously studying at Mount St. Joseph University during high school in Cincinnati, Ohio. During his time at U-M, Van Erp has won an MLK Spirit Award for institutional change and advocacy; a Belonging Award from U-M's Office for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion; received an EXCEL Enterprise grant for community impact projects in SMTD; and was a recipient of U-M's William J. Branstrom Freshman Prize. He has worked as a digital media producer/editor for U-M Athletics; a creative licensing intern at Inspiring Arts Productions; and a research assistant for U-M Arts Entrepreneurship and Leadership. Van Erp also worked alongside Tony Award winner and Michigan graduate Gavin Creel as dramaturg on Untitled: A New Musical in 2023, and when Creel returned in 2024 to further the show's development, Carter served as his assistant director on the now-titled musical, Loud Nite. Carter also directed "A Night with Anna Zavelson" at 54 Below in New York City, just months before the U-M SMTD student made her Broadway debut in The Notebook. Van Erp's additional credits include creating and directing the short film BOUND by much, and working in various capacities on university productions like RENT and A Little Night Music. His coursework at U-M blends creative expression with strategic expertise, creating an innovative approach to the performing arts that he hopes to carry to New York City after graduating this year.

Priti R. Shah

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Professor of Psychology; Professor of Information; Professor of Educational Psychology; Psychology Department Chair

Dr. Priti Shah is the U-M Psychology Department Chair and an Arthur F. Thurnau Professor in the Department of Psychology, School of Information, and Marsal Family School of Education. She is also a Faculty Associate in the Research Center for Group Dynamics of the Institute for Social Research, and Director of the Basic and Applied Cognition Laboratory.

Shah's research focuses on learning, thinking, and reasoning, and she has edited three volumes; published more than 100 articles and book chapters; has been quoted in mainstream publications like The Los Angeles Times, The Wall Street Journal, Discover magazine, The Daily Beast, and Time; and once worked as a consultant for Sesame Workshop. Shah has received funding from numerous sources during her career, including the National Science Foundation, Institute for Educational Sciences, Office of Naval Research, the National Institutes of Health, and the Spencer Foundation. At U-M, Shah founded the STAR (Students Tackling Advanced Research) Scholars organization, devoted to teaching approximately 30 underrepresented undergraduate students in psychology each year the skills they'll need to land jobs in research and apply to graduate schools. Shah has also won an Literature, Science, and the Arts Award for Individual Contribution to Undergraduate Education, a Psychology Graduate Mentoring Award, and the inaugural Amy L. and Kirk L. Wolfe Prize for mentoring undergraduate students majoring in biopsychology, cognition, and neuroscience.

Shah earned her A.B. in Psychology and Mathematics at University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; and an M.S. and Ph.D. in Cognitive Psychology from Carnegie Mellon University.

RHODES, MARSHALL, AND CHURCHILL SCHOLARSHIPS

Rhodes, Marshall, and Churchill Scholarships are among the world's most prestigious academic awards for graduate students. Since the estate of British philanthropist Cecil John Rhodes established Rhodes Scholarships in 1904, dozens of University of Michigan alumni have studied as Rhodes Scholars at Oxford University. Thirty-two Americans are named Rhodes Scholars each year.

Marshall Scholarships, founded by an Act of Parliament in 1953, finance opportunities for young American scholars of high ability to study in the United Kingdom. The scholarship commemorates the humane ideals of the European Recovery Program (Marshall Plan) and funds one or two years of study. Thirty-one Marshall Scholarships are awarded annually to American students who demonstrate potential to excel as scholars, as leaders, and as contributors to improved UK-US understanding.

The Churchill Scholarship started in 1963 with three awards and has since grown to 14. It provides funding to American students for a year of Master's study in science, mathematics, and engineering at the University of Cambridge, based at Churchill College. The scholarship was set up at the request of Sir Winston Churchill in order to fulfill his vision of US-UK scientific exchange with the goal of advancing science and technology on both sides of the Atlantic, helping to ensure our future prosperity and security. The Churchill Scholarship has been called the most academically challenging of the UK scholarships. Over the years, several students from Michigan have been named Churchill Scholars.

We proudly recognize the following students who were endorsed by the University of Michigan this year:

Eesha Acharya College of Literature, Science, and the Arts School of Public Health	Marshall Nominee

RAOUL WALLENBERG FELLOWSHIP

Inspired by the spirit of Raoul Wallenberg, the Wallenberg Fellowship is awarded in the spring of each year to a graduating senior of exceptional promise and accomplishment who is committed to service and the public good. The fellowship provides $25,000 to carry out an independent project of learning or exploration anywhere in the world during the year after graduation. The Fellow will engage in a self-designed and self-directed area of exploration or project of experiential learning. Through an active and immersive year-long experience, and by connecting in meaningful ways with the lives of other people and communities, the Wallenberg Fellow will prepare to make a difference in the world.

The Fellowship honors Raoul Wallenberg (B.S. Arch. '35), one of the most illustrious graduates of the University of Michigan. At U-M, Wallenberg was recognized for the excellence of his academic work, his eagerness for knowledge of the world and for understanding others, and for his intrepid independence and resourcefulness. He left Ann Arbor resolved to be actively engaged in life. Ten years later, as a Swedish diplomat during World War II, Wallenberg coordinated the rescue of tens of thousands of Jews in Budapest. He disappeared after he was arrested by Soviet authorities. One of the great heroes of the 20th century, Raoul Wallenberg shows that even under the most daunting circumstances, one person can make a difference.

The University of Michigan would like to express its deep appreciation to U-M parents Jon and Lili Bosse and U-M alumnus Bert Askwith (B.A. '31). Jon and Lili Bosse's generous gift initiated the Wallenberg Fellowship in 2013. In 2014, Bert Askwith generously created the Mary Sue Coleman Endowed Fund for the Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship to support future generations of Michigan students who are inspired by Wallenberg's legacy, and to honor President Coleman's leadership during her tenure at U-M.

The Raoul Wallenberg Fellowship recipient this year is:

Stephanie Smith

2025 THURNAU PROFESSORS

The Thurnau Professorships were established in 1988 to recognize and reward faculty for outstanding contributions to undergraduate education. The professorships honor tenured faculty members who, through their commitment and investment in undergraduate teaching, have had a positive impact on the intellectual development and lives of students.

Arthur F. Thurnau, for whom the Thurnau Professorship is named, attended the University of Michigan from fall of 1902 until spring of 1904. He studied a liberal arts curriculum, but he did not graduate. This was not uncommon for the time, and although his three brothers also attended the University of Michigan, only one of them graduated. In his two years here, Arthur completed 58 credits of French, German, history, English, rhetoric, politics, and economics. He also was a member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and sang in the Freshmen Glee Club.

Arthur later returned to Chicago, and worked as an “ad man,” selling advertising space in various magazines and newspapers. In this role, he eventually rose to the position of vice president and western manager for the firm Paul Block, Inc. He was actively involved in U-M alumni events in Chicago, even trying to arrange a football game between the Wolverines and the University of Chicago Maroons during that period of time when Chicago was part of the Big Ten Conference and Michigan was not. He also put his organizational talents to work during World War II by creating events to encourage the sale of government bonds.

Arthur Thurnau's generosity to the University of Michigan began in 1966, and continued through the rest of his life. Upon his death in 1979, his estate created the Thurnau Charitable Trust to support the University of Michigan. Since 1988, these funds have been used to support the Thurnau Professorships. Thurnau Professors receive $20,000 grants to support activities that enhance teaching. It is this important recognition for faculty that Arthur F. Thurnau so generously provided for and that the University of Michigan celebrates. The University is pleased to recognize this year's Thurnau Professors.

Brian K. Arbic

Professor of Earth and Environmental Sciences, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts, and
Professor of Climate and Space Sciences and Engineering, College of Engineering

Professor Arbic has been recognized for his innovative teaching, impactful mentorship, and global collaboration. Professor Arbic's students commend his ability to connect theory with practice, opening paths to dream careers in ocean science. They highlight the transformative impact of field study aboard a National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration research vessel where they conduct oceanographic research firsthand. One student writes that "collecting this data personally brought much more depth to the coursework than if we had simply been given data in a spreadsheet." Because Professor Arbic integrates computational tools like MATLAB into assignments, his courses equip students with industry-relevant skills. His commitment to experiential education extends beyond U-M: he founded and directs the Coastal Ocean Environment Summer School in Nigeria and Ghana (COESSING). Over the last decade, his multi-institution teaching team has served about 150 undergraduates from African universities each year, while also affording research opportunities to U-M students. His strength as a mentor is further visible in the fact that six first-authored papers have been published by undergraduates and high school students from his research lab. Working beyond his own department, Professor Arbic brought education and natural science faculty together to create a course designed to improve scientific literacy among future elementary school teachers. A colleague who has observed Professor Arbic teaching the course over the last five years praises his ability "to unpack complex material and stimulate a passion for understanding it and being able to explain it as an expert."

Ann L. Miller

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Professor of Molecular, Cellular, and Developmental Biology, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Miller is renowned for the structure, empathy, and generosity that shine through her mentoring and teaching at both gateway and senior capstone levels. She has played pivotal roles in making her department more inclusive through curricular re-design and opening more research opportunities to students. Professor Miller sought grant funding to develop active learning content for Biology 272, and the course has become an intermediate-level bridge that enables more of the students fascinated by introductory molecular biology to persist in the major and successfully complete upper-level courses. Colleagues are picking up innovative activities that she has introduced, such as Humans in Stem, which highlights the contributions of diverse scientists and contextualizes course content. Enrollment has grown to 160 students per year, and learning analytics show increased success for students with characteristics such as first-generation in college, lower socioeconomic background, and membership in historically marginalized groups. In addition to mentoring students in her own research lab, Professor Miller does the often invisible work of helping students identify and approach other campus labs that match their interests. More visibly, she has directed the Horizons Summer Internship Program which provides paid research opportunities for underrepresented students. More than 80% of students from the last two cohorts remained embedded in labs in fall 2024. One student writes, "She made every student feel like the complex field of cellular biology was accessible to every learner, no matter their background or skill set."

Farina Mir

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Richard Hudson Research Professor of History, Associate Professor of History, and Associate Professor in the Honors Program, College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

A winner of multiple teaching awards, Professor Mir has a truly impressive record of developing and teaching impactful courses. She relished the challenge of creating a gateway course in a discipline with no established canon of literature, no singular theoretical approach, and no one-size-fits-all research method. Instead, History 101: What is History? introduces students to the workings and importance of historical analysis itself, supported by careful scaffolding and reading guides. Professor Mir sought and obtained grant funding to develop a variety of assignments that gradually lead students into the work of historic interpretation. This approach makes history accessible to students from a broad range of backgrounds, resulting in a marked increase in enrollment and setting the standard for the field. Similarly, in History 325: History of South Asia, a powerful combination of conceptual rigor and personal relevance helps students to see how history matters in their own lives, while learning how to use and hone tools of historical thinking. One student of parents from Bangladesh describes how she gained “a broader vocabulary and historical network of ideas, policies, and processes for situating and understanding” her family history. Professor Mir’s colleagues report that their own tasks as fellow South Asianists are easier because she has created “rich and deep engagement with the region,” including increased opportunities for language study at U-M and summer funding for study and work abroad. As the director of graduate studies, Professor Mir has improved the delivery of undergraduate education by revising processes for the training, assignment, and assessment of graduate student instructors.

Aaron J. Ridley

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Professor of Climate and Space Sciences and Engineering, College of Engineering

Professor Ridley is a top space physicist and a top student mentor. His approach to research and education is hands-on and experiential. He develops courses where undergraduates do science and engineering. They dive into data, models, and instrumentation and discover for themselves the conceptual framework of the field. Courses are not just academic since students address real-world problems or build hardware. In an ENG100 section that was named Section of the Year by the Office of the Associate Dean for Undergraduate Education, his students design, build, and launch a rocket while also developing their own computer simulation of rocket flight dynamics. In another section, students design, build, test, and launch small sensors on high-altitude weather balloons. One first-year student writes, “The idea of building our own payload to launch to such high altitudes where we could observe the curve of the Earth and its atmosphere was just the most exciting thing I had ever come across.” Students quickly pick up systems engineering tools, basic coding, and lab equipment skills that they will use in many courses in their majors. Moreover, early exposure to a wide variety of engineering disciplines helps them choose their career paths. Professor Ridley also opens his research group to students and teaches them to code so that they can contribute to his large-scale space weather simulator. Beyond the classroom, he fuels interest in space science through videos posted to his Hands On Engineering YouTube channel and a three-course Rocket Science 101 specialization through Coursera.

Ginger V. Shultz

Arthur F. Thurnau Professor

Associate Professor of Chemistry and Associate Professor in the Honors Program,
College of Literature, Science, and the Arts

Professor Shultz is nationally recognized as an outstanding leader in chemistry education and writing-to-learn pedagogies. She earns superb student evaluations every term for courses that range from introductory organic chemistry lectures and labs to a College of Literature, Science, and the Arts Honors course where students uncover and celebrate scientists from groups historically marginalized in science. One student added a science writing cognate to her physics major after the course led her to realize just “how valuable the intersection between science, writing, and storytelling could be.” Professor Shultz transformed her own lab course from a traditional focus on recipe-based experiments to problem-based learning. Through cooperative activities, students master difficult concepts and build transferable skills. Her research shows that such teaching methods can significantly enhance STEM learning, especially for students belonging to underrepresented groups. Professor Shultz’s efforts have improved the teaching of many other instructors. Chem 216 itself is a massive undertaking with 850 students, and she coordinates and coaches a large instructional team of 30 GSIs, 12 peer instructors, and a post-doctoral teaching fellow. Her new course, CHEM 550/EDUC 554: Chemistry Education Research and Practice, helps prepare even more graduate students to engage in high-quality teaching. As a co-leader of the M-Write initiative, Professor Shultz has helped other faculty implement writing-to-learn strategies in their own large-enrollment courses. Since 2016, she has directly mentored more than 50 undergraduate researchers, four of whom have published first-author papers, while 16 others have been co-authors.

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOM

The colorful gowns and hoods worn by faculty members at commencement and other academic ceremonies represent the degrees, disciplines, and alma maters of the wearers. The American academic costume tradition, imported from England, dates to Colonial days.

Gowns

Bachelor's or master's degree gowns traditionally are black, as are many doctoral gowns in the United States. Some universities prescribe that their graduates wear gowns of another solid color such as blue, crimson, or green. Gowns differ in sleeve cut and trim. For example, the bachelor's gown has long, pointed sleeves while the master's gown has oblong sleeves. Doctoral gowns, with their distinctive bell-shaped sleeves, feature velvet panels down the front and around the neck, as well as crossbars of velvet on the sleeves. Colored trim denotes the field or discipline in which the degree was earned. Usually only a single degree from one institution is indicated by a garment. If more than one degree is held, the gown and hood of the higher or highest degree usually are worn.

Hoods

The hood most precisely describes the wearer's level of degree earned, the major field of learning, and the alma mater. The level of the degree held is indicated by the hood's shape and size and the width of its velvet or velveteen trimming. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are 36 inches, 42 inches, and 48 inches long, respectively. The velvet trim is two, three, and five inches wide, with the narrowest being for the bachelor's hood and the widest for the doctor's hood. The color of trim on the hood, as on the gown, identifies the major field of learning in which the degree was awarded. The hood is lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree.

Caps

Caps vary in style from the traditional black mortarboard to eight-, six-, and four-corner tams, and Elizabethan-style caps. The mortarboard may be of any appropriate material, such as cotton, poplin, rayon, or silk, to match the gown. Velvet is reserved for holders of doctorates.

THE UNIVERSITY MACE

The University's mace is a symbol of academic scholarship, integrity, and authority. It is carried by the chair of the University Senate at the head of academic processions on such important ceremonial occasions as commencements, convocations, and inaugurations, representing the connection of all faculty members to important academic rituals. The mace being used today was given to the University in 1968 by the Senior Board, representing all the undergraduate schools and colleges. Crafted of red oak and trimmed with silver, the mace features the seals of the University and of the State of Michigan. Also engraved on the mace are the names of the University Presidents.

THE YELLOW AND BLUE

Sing to the colors that float in the light;
Hurrah for the Yellow and Blue!

Yellow the stars as they ride thro' the night,
And reel in a rollicking crew;

Yellow the fields where ripens the grain,
And Yellow the moon on the harvest wain;

Hail!

Hail to the colors that float in the light;
Hurrah for the Yellow and Blue!
